[REDACTED] They rented a van and drove to San Francisco. They stayed for one night and went sight seeing the next day. They went on the trip [REDACTED] was due to return to Tunisia and had not seen San Francisco while in America.

[REDACTED] also traveled twice to San Diego. Both times he visited Sea world. The first time that he went was with [REDACTED] from Sudan. They visited no other places in San Diego while on this trip.

With regards to the second trip that [REDACTED] took to San Diego he remembered it as an after thought. He said he remembered his second trip to San Diego in the context of two Saudi Arabian nationals who flew into LAX airport and subsequently went to King Fahad Mosque. When asked to provide the sequence of events regarding the two Saudi Arabian nationals [REDACTED] provided the following:

[REDACTED] had heard that two Saudi Arabian men arrived at LAX and were met by a person unknown to [REDACTED]. This unknown person then took the two Saudis to an apartment complex that had already been rented for them. [REDACTED] stated he could not remember the address, but that it was a large white building located on Sepulveda Blvd. between Venice Blvd. and Palm St.

One or two days after the arrival of the Saudis [REDACTED] was at the King Fahad Mosque. While at the mosque [REDACTED] introduced [REDACTED] to the two Saudis and asked [REDACTED] if he could help them during their time in Los Angeles because they did not speak english. [REDACTED] agreed and gave the Saudis his taxi cab business card.

The next day the Saudis called [REDACTED] and asked him to pick them up and drive them around Los Angeles. [REDACTED] picked them up at their apartment complex and then drove them around Santa Monica, took them to the beach, and to Hollywood. That day they ate at the Cheesecake Factory and the Mediterranean Restaurant located on Venice Blvd. At the end of the day [REDACTED] took them back to their apartment complex.

Two to three days later the Saudis called [REDACTED] again. This time they wanted to go to Sea world in San Diego. They said they would pay [REDACTED] $200 plus gas and food for the day if he took them. [REDACTED] agreed and picked them up at their apartment where he was given $100 and told he would get the remainder after the trip. [REDACTED] stated they drove straight to San Diego and the only stop that they made was at a gas station. [REDACTED] could not remember the gas stations location in San Diego. They spent the entire day at Sea world and then returned to Los Angeles. While at Sea world the three of them never met anyone. There were occasions though where [REDACTED] used the restroom by himself and left the two Saudis alone.

One or two days after they returned to Los Angeles [REDACTED] called them to receive the remainder of his money. The [REDACTED] told him that [REDACTED] would give him the rest of the money.

When asked by investigators who else knew about the two Saudis [REDACTED] replied that no one at the Kind Fahad Mosque knew about them and that he was told by [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] did say that the Saudi Consulate knew about the two Saudis because it was the consulate that told [REDACTED] to take care of the Saudis.

[REDACTED] was told by [REDACTED] that the Saudis were here to see their sick father who was in a local hospital. [REDACTED] said that the Saudis stayed in Los Angeles for approximately one month and then they returned to Saudi Arabia. When asked if [REDACTED] knew for a fact that they returned to Saudi Arabia he replied no and that he was just told that they had left Los Angeles.

[REDACTED] could not remember the Saudis names, but remembered one was approximately [REDACTED] and the other was approximately [REDACTED] [REDACTED] stated over and over that the two Saudis came to Los Angeles prior to 09/11/2001.
